

Casual social event miscommunication apology

Subject: Oops! Sorry for the Mix-Up About Saturday's Party

Hey everyone,

I need to apologize for the confusion about this Saturday's party. I sent out mixed messages about the time and location, and I know some of you have been asking for clarification.

Here's what happened: I initially said 7 PM at my place, then I texted some of you saying 6 PM at the park, and then I confused things further by mentioning Sarah's house in the group chat. No wonder you're all confused – I confused myself!

Let me clear this up once and for all: The party is at MY HOUSE, starting at 7 PM this Saturday. Please ignore all my other scattered messages.

I'm really sorry for being so disorganized. I was trying to coordinate with multiple people and somehow managed to create more chaos instead of clarity. This is totally on me, and I should have double-checked before sending out updates.

Looking forward to seeing you all on Saturday (at my house, at 7 PM – I'm writing it down this time!).

Cheers,

[Your Name]

Get more templates here:

<https://www.lettersandtemplates.com/letters/apology-letter-for-miscommunication>