

Sincere apology to extended family for absence

Subject: My Sincere Apologies for Missing Our Family Reunion

Dear Family,

I hope this email finds everyone well and that you all had a wonderful time at the reunion last weekend. It breaks my heart that I wasn't there to share in the joy and laughter with all of you.

I know that family reunions don't happen often, and missing this opportunity to connect with everyone, especially our older relatives, is something I deeply regret. These gatherings are precious, and I understand how my absence may have been disappointing, particularly to those who were looking forward to seeing me.

The work emergency that kept me away seemed urgent at the time, but I realize now that I should have found a way to be there. Family should always come first, and I failed to prioritize what truly matters.

I saw the photos that [Family member's name] shared, and everyone looked so happy together. I'm grateful that these moments were captured, but I wish I could have been part of them instead of just viewing them from afar.

Please know that I love you all dearly and I'm committed to making the next family gathering a priority, regardless of any other obligations that may arise.

With all my love and regret,

[Your name]
