

Teamwork and Mentorship Recognition

Hi [Salesperson's Name],

I wanted to reach out and acknowledge something I've observed over the past few months that really deserves recognition.

Your willingness to mentor new team members has been outstanding. I've watched you take time from your busy schedule to help Sarah with her cold calling techniques and guide Mark through his first major presentation. The way you share your knowledge without any sense of competition shows real leadership qualities.

Your collaborative approach during our recent product launch was also remarkable. Instead of focusing solely on your own numbers, you helped coordinate efforts across territories to maximize our collective impact. That kind of team-first attitude is exactly what makes our department successful.

Keep up the fantastic work â€” you're setting a great example for everyone.

Cheers,

[Colleague Name]
