Dear [Employee's Name],

Re: Final Warning - [Issue]

I am writing to inform you that, following a series of discussions and previous warnings, we are left with no option but to issue you a final warning regarding your [behavior/performance].

Despite our previous efforts to address this issue and the warnings you have received, we have observed no substantial improvement. This behavior/performance is inconsistent with our company's values and expectations, and it cannot continue.

This final warning is a last opportunity for you to make the necessary changes and demonstrate your commitment to meeting our standards. If your behavior/performance does not improve immediately and significantly, further disciplinary action, up to and including termination of your employment, will be taken.

We expect to see a marked and sustained improvement in your conduct/performance within [specific timeframe]. Failure to do so will result in the termination of your employment with [Company Name].

Please sign and return the attached copy of this letter to acknowledge receipt and understanding of the seriousness of this final warning.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
