

Compassionate rejection due to personal financial situation

Subject: Thank You for Your Kindness - Unable to Accept at This Time

Dear [Donor Name],

Your offer to help during this difficult time has touched my heart more than words can express. The fact that you thought of me and my family during your own busy life means everything to us.

While I am incredibly grateful for your generous offer, I must respectfully decline your donation. Although we are facing challenges, we have been blessed with an outpouring of support from our community, and our immediate needs have been met through other means.

I believe your generous spirit would be better directed toward others who may be in more urgent need right now. Perhaps you could consider supporting [local food bank/charity] or another family in similar circumstances.

Your friendship and moral support mean more to me than any financial assistance ever could. Thank you for being such a wonderful person and for thinking of us during this time.

With love and appreciation,

[Your Name]
