

Humorous holiday letter for coworkers

Subject: Surviving the Holidays, One Coffee at a Time

Dear Team,

It's that magical time of year again when deadlines are tight, the coffee machine works overtime, and yet somehow, we all manage to survive.

Just a quick reminder that holiday cookies do not count as actual nutrition, and that the office karaoke contest will not result in a Grammy, but you will make unforgettable memories.

Wishing you laughter, minimal printer jams, and an unlimited supply of holiday cheer.

Happy Holidays!
