

Humorous yet professional resignation letter

Subject: My Grand Escape Plan

Dear [Manager Name],

After much contemplation and careful calculation, I have decided that my true calling lies elsewhereâ€”preferably anywhere that doesnâ€™t involve early morning meetings and endless emails.

Thank you for tolerating my quirky humor, questionable coffee-making skills, and occasional creative excuses. I will forever cherish the memories of deadlines, office banter, and the mysterious disappearance of snacks from the break room.

Please accept this letter as my formal resignation, effective [Last Working Day]. I promise to leave my desk cleaner than I found itâ€”mostly.

Yours in jest and sincerity,

[Your Name]
