

Exaggerated humorous resignation letter

Subject: Official Notice of My Liberation

Dear [Manager Name],

It is with equal parts joy and relief that I tender my resignation. I have come to the realization that my talents for procrastination, meme sharing, and office gossip may be better appreciated elsewhere.

I will always remember the battles fought over office thermostats, the endless coffee runs, and the heroic fight against the never-ending inbox.

Effective [Last Day], I shall depart this realm of fluorescent lights and meetings that could have been emails.

Forever humorously yours,

[Your Name]
