

Playful style email to creative agencies

Subject: Will Trade Coffee for a Marketing Internship

Hi [Hiring Manager],

I'm applying for the Marketing Internship at your company, and while I may not have years of professional experience, I do have an endless supply of creativity and willingness to learn. Plus, I make a mean cup of coffee—so I'm already halfway qualified to survive agency life!

Jokes aside, I've worked on social media campaigns for student groups and ran content experiments that taught me how humor and relatability can drive engagement. I'm excited about the idea of contributing fresh, fun, and effective ideas to your projects.

Let's chat soon—I promise to bring both my creativity and coffee-making skills.

Cheers,

[Your Name]

Get more templates here:

<https://www.lettersandtemplates.com/letters/marketing-internship-cover-letter>