

Creative Broadcasting Freelancer Pitch Email

Subject: Freelance Video Producer Available for Upcoming Projects

Hi [Contact Name],

I hope this message finds you well! I'm reaching out because I've been following [Company Name]'s amazing content, especially your recent documentary series on [topic]. The storytelling approach you took was absolutely brilliant, and it's exactly the kind of work that gets me excited.

I'm a freelance video producer and director with five years of experience creating content for networks, streaming platforms, and digital media companies. My specialty is turning complex subjects into engaging visual narratives that resonate with diverse audiences. I've recently wrapped up a project with [Previous Client] and have availability starting [Date].

Here's what I bring to the table: full-cycle production management, a killer eye for cinematography, strong editing skills (Premiere Pro and DaVinci Resolve), and a collaborative spirit that makes productions run smoothly. I've produced everything from 30-second social media spots to hour-long documentaries.

I'd love to grab coffee (virtual or in-person!) to discuss potential collaboration opportunities. I think there's real synergy between what you're creating and what I love to produce.

Looking forward to connecting!

Cheers,

[Your Name]

[Portfolio Link]

[Phone Number]

Get more templates here:

<https://www.lettersandtemplates.com/letters/media-and-broadcasting-cover-letter>