

Experienced Editor Career Transition Letter

Subject: Senior Editor Application - Transitioning from Academic to Trade Publishing

Dear [Hiring Manager's Name],

After eight successful years as Managing Editor at [Academic Press], I am seeking to transition my expertise to trade publishing, specifically within [Company Name]'s fiction division.

My career has been defined by transforming complex manuscripts into accessible, engaging publications. At [Current Company], I oversee a team of six editors, manage annual budgets exceeding $2M, and have shepherded over 150 titles from acquisition through final production. My editorial decisions have resulted in three award-winning publications and a 40% increase in our division's market share.

While academic publishing has been rewarding, I am drawn to trade publishing's broader creative scope and reader engagement. Your house's reputation for literary excellence, combined with your innovative approach to digital integration, aligns perfectly with where I envision taking my career.

I bring strong relationships with literary agents, deep knowledge of editorial workflows, expertise in both print and digital formats, and a proven track record of mentoring junior staff. My transition represents not a departure from my strengths, but an evolution that will benefit your editorial vision.

I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss how my experience can translate into immediate value for your team.

Best regards,

[Your Name]

[LinkedIn Profile]

[Contact Information]

Get more templates here:

<https://www.lettersandtemplates.com/letters/publishing-and-printing-cover-letter>