Dear [Executive Name],

I am pleased to submit this requisition for approval of our proposed [Campaign Name] marketing campaign, designed to [primary objective]. This strategic initiative will run from [start date] to [end date] and targets [specific audience description].

The total requested budget is [amount], allocated across the following channels: digital advertising ([amount]), content creation ([amount]), influencer partnerships ([amount]), and analytics tools ([amount]). This investment is projected to generate [expected outcomes with metrics].

Our market research indicates strong potential for this campaign, with competitor analysis showing similar initiatives achieving [benchmark results]. We have designed this campaign to differentiate our brand through [unique approach or messaging].

The campaign timeline includes: planning and creative development ([dates]), soft launch ([date]), full deployment ([date]), and performance review ([date]). We have built in flexibility to adjust tactics based on real-time performance data.

Key performance indicators will include: [list specific KPIs with target numbers]. We will provide weekly performance reports and a comprehensive post-campaign analysis.

Risk mitigation strategies include: diversified channel allocation to minimize dependency on single platforms, A/B testing protocols, and reserved contingency funds ([amount]) for optimization opportunities.

I have attached the complete campaign proposal, creative mockups, media plan, and detailed budget breakdown. Our agency partners are prepared to begin execution immediately upon approval.

I am confident this campaign will deliver significant value and measurable results. I welcome the opportunity to present this proposal in detail and address any questions.

Thank you for considering this investment in our brand growth.

Best regards,
